

Scotland and Brexit

Tuesday, 20 September 2016
Dynamic Earth, Edinburgh

Live stream & film - bit.ly/Watch\_ScotlandandBrexit

-----
Chair: Henry McLeish, Former First Minister

13.00 - 13.05 Introduction

13.05 - 14.00 Panel of MSPs from the European and External Relations Committee

- o Joan McAlpine, MSP (Convener)
- o Lewis Macdonald, MSP (Deputy Convener)
- o Jackson Carlaw, MSP
- o Ross Greer, MSP
- o Tavish Scott, MSP

14.00 - 15.00 Academic Panel - "Brexit means Brexit" but what might Brexit mean?

- o Brexit from an EU Perspective · Prof. Laura Cram, University of Edinburgh
- o Options for Trade and their economic implications · Prof. David Bell, University of Stirling
- o Brexit and the free movement of workers · Prof. Christina Boswell, University of Edinburgh
- o Can Scotland stay in the UK and the EU? · Prof. Michael Keating, University of Aberdeen & Director of the Centre on Constitutional Change

15.00 Tea/Coffee break

15.30 - 16.30 Academic Panel - Brexit, devolution and Scotland's constitutional future

- o How Brexit will affect Scotland's Fiscal Framework · Prof. David Heald, University of Glasgow
- o Brexit: the implications for the devolution settlement · Prof. Alan Page, University of Dundee
- o Perceptions of risk and constitutional change in the Brexit debate · Prof. Ailsa Henderson, University of Edinburgh
- o Implications for Scottish self-government · Prof. Nicola McEwen, University of Edinburgh & Associate Director of the Centre on Constitutional Change

16.30 Your message to the European and External Relations Committee

17.00 Close

-----

The Centre on Constitutional Change (CCC) acts as a hub for a wide network of scholars across the UK and beyond engaged in real-time research and analysis of contemporary constitutional issues. Based at the University of Edinburgh, its fellows come from the Universities of Aberdeen, Cardiff, Stirling, Strathclyde, and Queen Margaret University London. CCC was established in August 2013 with an investment from the Economic and Social Research Council.